

Privacy Policy

We are glad about your interest in the TasksOnSteroids web-site. Besides, for external links to foreign contents we can assume no liability in spite of careful content control.

The protection of your personal data from inquiries, processing during your visit to TasksOnSteroids is an important concern to us. Your data is protected within the scope of the legal instructions. In the following you will find information about which data are gathered during your visit to the web-site and how these are used:

1. Inquiring and processing of data

Every access to our web-site is captured. It is used for internal system-related and statistical purposes. The data captured are: Name of the visited page or function as well as date and time of the visit. In addition, the IP address of the asking computers is captured.

Furthermore, cookies will be created, processed and used to associate to the user, for example, with a user ID.

Further personal data are only registered if you provide this information voluntarily, possibly within the scope of an inquiry or sign up.

We fall back on third party suppliers to place announcements when you visit our website. These companies possibly use information (this does not enclose your name, your address, e-mail address or telephone number) for your visits to these and other websites, so that announcements can be made for products and services in which you are interested. If you would like to get to know more about these methods or would like to know what options you have, so that this information cannot be used by these companies, click here.

2. Use and passing on of personal data

TasksOnSteroids points out you the fact that information provided by you is stored in machine-readable form and will be processed by machine.

As far as you have made available personal data to us, we use this only for the reasons stated for the duration of your relationship between you and TasksOnSteroids as well as for the technical administration.

Your stored personal data will be deleted if you revoke your approval for its storage.

3. Privacy statement relating to the use of Facebook plug-ins (the "Like" button)

Plug-ins from the social network site Facebook, 1601 South California Avenue, Palo Alto, CA 94304, USA, are integrated into our website. You will recognise the Facebook plug-ins by the presence of the Facebook logo or the "Like" button on our website. For an overview of Facebook plug-ins, please visit: <http://developers.facebook.com/docs/plugins/> When you visit our website, the plug-in will create a direct connection between your browser and the Facebook server. This will inform Facebook that you have visited our site from your IP address. If you click the Facebook "Like" button while logged into your Facebook account, you can link the content of our website with your own Facebook profile. In this way, Facebook can match a visit to our website with your user account. We would like to remind you that, as a provider of the website, we do not receive any information relating to the content of the data transferred or to its use by Facebook. For further information, please view Facebook's privacy statement at <http://de-de.facebook.com/policy.php>.

If you do not wish for Facebook to be able to match your visit to our website with your Facebook user account, please log out of your user account.

Source: Facebook-Disclaimer von eRecht24.de

4. Information right

On written inquiry we will inform you about the data stored to your person.

Security hint:

We try hard to store your personal data by the gathering of all technical and organizational possibilities in such a way that they are not accessible to a third party. With e-mail communication the entire data security is beyond our control and cannot be guaranteed by us, so we recommend the use of mail for confidential information.

5. Approval of advertising and marketing research

Herewith you agree that SiriusTec (host of the TasksOnSteroids web-site) processes and uses your personal data for SiriusTec-advertising measures such as the sending of e-mails with general information or advertising character (newsletter). Furthermore, please note that at any time you have the right to cancel this information (corresponding hint in the e-mail).

6. Cancellation

The data security explanation is accessible from every page of the SiriusTec website with the link 'Privacy policy'. Your approval of this privacy policy can be revoked any time in writing by e-mail to [support@sirius tec.eu](mailto:support@sirius tec.eu) with specification of your username and password.